Silk Hats, Goodbye
Queer Mr. Norris
Vatican and Hitler Agree
Anti-Semitic War
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

MUSSOLINI Italy's ruler, looks well in a stove pipe hat, and hitherto has always worn one on formal occasions. But now he decides that for Fascist officials "silk hats" must go. Hereafter his officials must wear stove pipe hats, or "fre-quent" debate restaurants and theaters. They must walk rather than ride, as much as possible, use moderate priced automobiles and motorcycles when riding is necessary. They must be humble, not arousing the jealousy of the poor.

Says Mussolini: "Frequent humble quarters of the cities, get in tune with the working classes, morally and physically, keep regular office hours, lending a patient and sympathetic ear to as many as possible of the people who come to see you."

Many American politicians would find work for Mussolini not sympathetic.

Hitler also intends to make the upper half know how the other half lives. Before a young man in Germany can get a university degree he must do a certain amount of hard, physical labor. You may see aristocratic sons of rich Germans out in the fields, working with shovel and pickaxe.

Senator Norris, queer Republican who represents those (not for him, but to wait for the Democratic President before he could win his fight for government, exploitation of Atlantic Shoa.

Now, after a tour through the St. Lawrence river, he comes back to denounce the "power trust" and railroads for opposing the St. Lawrence waterway development. He says it would save users of electricity in New York state hundreds of millions of dollars annually, and cut the cost of electricity at least 50 per cent. That program would be welcome to all but a few.

It will be interesting to see whether Senator Norris can win the time, as he did after his long fight at Muscle Shoals.

The St. Lawrence Waterway, in addition to supplying cheap light and power, would help the Middle West farmers by cutting the cost of transporting grain to the seaboard, which means, says Senator Norris, "the difference between red ink and black ink for the farmer."

That waterway would give New York state "1,100,000 horsepower of electricity as cheap as any provided on this continent."

Senator Norris is a great champion to some of our "best interests," but the people are glad to have him around.

Rome reports the signing, or "concordat," of a concordat of understanding between the Vatican and Hitler's German government. The concordat would "transfer impossible any future conflict between the church and state in Germany."

Under the concordat, the Vatican undertakes its support from the dissolved German Catholic Party, and will concentrate all future efforts on the development of non-political Catholic organizations.

Meanwhile Germany continues, apparently with undiminished energy, her campaign against Germans of Jewish descent. Eighty German physicians have been arrested and sent to a German prison camp, accused of "Marxist, communist and anarchist propaganda, and spreading atrocity reports."

Strict regulations now bar Jewish doctors from treating the vast majority of the German people.

There was a time in the mid-fifties when Christians were doctors on religious grounds, but many high dignitaries refused to permit their undertakings to Jewish doctors of personal Jewish descent, and their own, because they were the best doctors.

The learned Maimonides, after the great synagogue in Cordoba, lived as a physician with the Khedive of Egypt, who wisely put good men ahead of religious prejudices.

Prof. Pieron, one of the world's leading scientists, proves that lack of sleep deprives police in the long run. Remember this when compelling children to stay late at school. A child's future depends on strength, a sound constitution built up now, not on the child's grade in passing some particular examination.

Spent Night at Moine Pond, Then Fly to North Haven

North Haven, Me., July 10.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, who are making a survey flight that will take them across Labrador, Greenland and Iceland, arrived here at 10:50 a. m. today from South Warren, Me., where they were forced down by fog after flying from New York.

The Lindberghs' stop here will give them an opportunity to visit their son, Jon, who is in the care of his nurse, Betty Gow, and Mrs. Lindbergh's mother, Mrs. Dwisli Morrow, at the Morrow nursing home.

Originally intending to make Halifax, N. S., his destination last night, Lindbergh was forced inland by banks of fog over the coast. He brought his plane down to the nearest telephone exchange, and telephoned to New York for a replacement part.

"I was forced to land on the banks of fog," Lindbergh explained on South Warren at South Warren shortly after 6 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The Lindberghs and his wife appeared at the Dorman's camp, were immediately recognized and invited to make themselves at home.

Lindbergh obtained blankets and luggage from his plane and returned to the camp to accept the hospitality.

Meanwhile, at Rockland, 30 miles from South Warren, the search for the missing plane continued.

Under the concordat, the Vatican undertakes its support from the dissolved German Catholic Party, and will concentrate all future efforts on the development of non-political Catholic organizations.

APPROACHING AGREEMENT

Schwartz Stripped of Power to Interfere in Department

Supt. Michael H. Crowley's long awaited report on the police department, ordered by Comm. Hultman, will be completed early today or early tomorrow, and forwarded at once to the commission, Crowley said today.

Other than to say the report would be lengthy, Supt. Crowley refused to make any comment.

The report will probably include separate reports made to Crowley by Deputy Supt. Anderson and Lt. Stephen Ellis, former head and chief assistant, respectively, of the Bureau of criminal investigation.

Crowley's probe was ordered after the Suffolk grand jury had delivered Anderson and Ellis to be held for their positions in the conduct of the department generally was scored.

The second conference between Gov. Ely and Dist. Atty. Policy, scheduled for tomorrow, will result in Policy reaching an agreement with the Governor on the removal of police before the grand jury is at all times.

Several of the officers who testified before the grand jury said there was nothing to suggest that they were afraid to have been.

At his first conference with the Governor, Policy said he would not reveal to the Governor or anyone else the testimony before the grand jury, as it was secret.

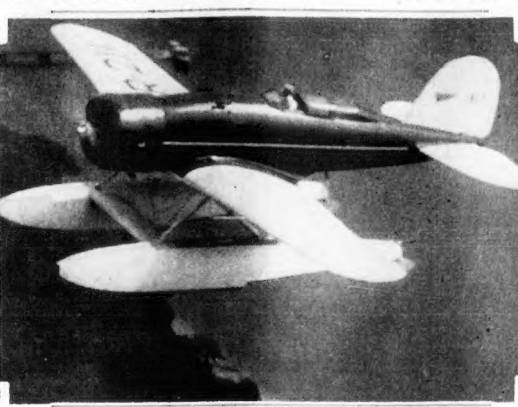

Atty. Leo Schwartz, legal adviser to Comm. Hultman, was stripped of all authority to interfere with the work of the police department in an order against the department, issued by Supt. Crowley today.

Schwartz has been ordered to refrain from interfering with the work of the police department in any way.

It will probably be several days before Hultman makes public his comments on the report of the grand jury, Hultman has made a practice of returning reports for further information, when the information contained does not seem sufficient to him.

REOPENS HUNT FOR GIRL

Six Face Quiz in Disappearance of Walker Child

Center Ossipee, N. H., July 10.—Investigation into the mysterious disappearance of two-year-old Sarah Walker from her home last May 1, will be reopened by Carroll County authorities today.

Sheriff Harry L. Leavitt, of this town, revealed early today that he had received information over the week-end which has led to the renewed probe of the case. It has now returned from Boston, Mass., where he was following what he said was a "definite lead" in the case.

SIX FACE QUIZ

Today he plans to question six witnesses. He did not reveal their names, but said all were residents of Stafford County, and that they would be brought here today for questioning.

He would not divulge the source or nature of his information, but said that he had discussed it with High Sheriff James Welch of Tamworth, and that the latter had agreed that the case should be reopened and ordered him to go ahead with the information he had.

Officials here are still convinced the child was struck by an auto near her home on the day she disappeared and ordered him to go and carried away her body and disappeared.

Her disappearance precipitated one of the longest searches in the history of the state.

SWAMPS SEARCHED

County officials, police and volunteers went over large sections of woodland and swamps near here but could find no trace of the missing child. A blank wall and 25 miles from here have also been dragged in the futile hunt for her body.

A number of persons were questioned at length in the case but after more than a month of effort officials finally admitted they had run against a blank wall and closed the case.

Only Saturday information came to Sheriff Leavitt which has resulted in the renewal of the probe.

PROSECUTING CURSE

Two Hingham brothers and their sister, spent by auto to Portland, Me., early today in a race against death to the bedside of Nellie Osborn, 48, who was injured while vacationing.

Miss Osborn, a registered nurse, left her home in Haverly, N. H., a week ago to spend two weeks at Portland, Maine, bathing at Chebeague Beach yesterday where she was hit by a car.

Her condition was so serious that she was taken to Portland, where she was being treated at the Portland Hospital.

Shortly after midnight, John T. Osborn and William H. Osborn, brothers of the injured nurse, took Emma K. Osborn, a sister, and started the hurried trip to Maine. The injured nurse is the daughter of Mrs. Bridget Osborn.

Suburbs to Carry Fight for Recognition to Capital

Boston's suburbs have united for the purpose of securing a separate classification under the National Recovery Act from the city of Boston proper. Chambers of Commerce in all of the suburbs have joined in the movement and representatives will be sent to Washington to have the present classification changed.

At present all of the suburbs are grouped with Boston to put Boston in a class with a million or more population. This classification includes cities as far distant as Brockton, Salem, Gloucester, and other sections of the country such as outside cities are not included in the group.

Delegates from suburban Chambers of Commerce are to meet, probably at Salem, prior to the departure of representatives for Washington to take up the matter with Gen. H. S. Johnson.

3 More Give Cupid Friendly Spand

Los Angeles, July 10 (AP)—The current run of "friendly" divorces and separations among persons prominent in the Hollywood film colony today had added the marital difficulties of a Hungarian actress, a director and an independent producer.

Last week Richard Dix, cowboy hero, said he and the San Francisco society girl, the former Frances Fox, would remain divorced, after their divorce had been granted by the court.

Today came Ella Fitzgerald, 24, who said she and her husband, John Hausman, playwright, now in the Broadway musical "New York, have separated on a friendly basis.

There came also Mabel LaBaron, former actress, well known in musical circles, with word that she and her husband, William LaBaron, producer, were "amicably separated."

And finally—for the moment, at least—there came Edmund Goulding, film director, and his wife of less than two years, the former Marjorie Violet Moss, stage dancer, whose reported separation is unconfirmed.

Birth Brings New Title to Mayor

Mayor Curley will find himself the grand-uncle of a healthy baby boy when he returns from his European vacation. The baby was born yesterday to his brother's daughter, the wife of Charles F. Murphy, former Boston College football star.

The baby, first makes John J. Curley, brother of the mayor, a grandfather. The child is his first grandson.

Wife Sticks to Death Patrol

Medford, July 10.—A tight lipped woman—wife or widow—whose only home is a deeper sorrow, today kept the seventh day of traffic jam on the bridge called "Death."

Along the banks of the placidly flowing Chocoma, and in its water downstream, a dead car to group that more from the bridge. State troopers and Boy Scouts again sought the body of her husband, Lawrence L. Willard, a stick business man who has been missing since his car was found in the stream.

The bridge last Tuesday morning.

TRY HOLDUP FACTOR HUNTED ON COMMON IN GANG HAUNTS

Chicago, July 10 (CNS)—The whereabouts of John "Jake" the Barber Factor remain a mystery today, with federal authorities watching for him along the Texas border and local police raiding the haunts of the Touhy gang for clues.

It also was said unofficially he was being held in a Chicago police station.

Federal authorities entered the case at the behest of the British government. Factor is charged with having freed English investors of $700,000 in stock promotion schemes.

Local authorities, discounting the theory that the kidnapping is a hoax, feel certain that the armed man who seized the millionaire stock market operator as he left a roadhouse 10 days ago, were members of the Touhy gang.

Best Sellers Put Ads in Newspapers

New York, July 10 (INS)—Newspapers were the favorite advertising medium of 432 national advertisers during 1932, according to a preliminary made public today by the bureau of advertising of the National Newspaper Publishers Association.

These advertisers, the compilation showed, spent $115,000,000 in newspapers, $2,201,125 in magazines and $23,521,384 for radio advertising.

5 Escape Injury as Car Overturns Twice

Saranac Lake, N. Y., July 10.—An auto driven by Carl Upjohn, of Toledo, Ohio, ran off the Harrietstown road at "dead man's curve," and turned over twice. Neither Mr. Upjohn nor any of the four other occupants was injured.

The car was found in the stream.

First National Office on Food Price Board

A Food Control Commission, First National Office, was named today as one of the 10 leaders in the food industry who will cooperate with the Department of Agriculture in an attempt to restore the buying power of the nation's farm population and stabilize the preparation of a National Emergency Act for the food industry.

Goodwin was elected at Atlantic City at the conclusion of a three-day conference called by Charles J. Brand, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

BEACON DECISION BLOW TO INTERLOCKING OF STOCKS

Jurist Holds Bankers Liable For Million on His Plea

Big Ten Named in Bank Case

Judge Burns' Ruling Is Doubtful

owner of 25 shares of Class A stock, acting on behalf of 700 minority stockholders. In his bill, Spiegel charged that the 35 defendants as directors of Beacon Participations, Inc., are responsible for four breaches of duty. He charged:

"The respondents are liable to the corporation, because of their failure to exercise sound judgment, their gross carelessness in purchasing or approving the purchase of a promissory note in the sum of $100,000, on signed by the Beacon Building Trust, Inc., from the Beacon Trust Co., induced without recourse by the bank and highly increased, and that in any event the directors were guilty of culpable neglect in failing to make a proper investigation or take other steps to protect the Beacon Participations prior to July 13, 1928."

"The respondents are liable to the corporation for the loss suffered by it through the action of the directors arising out of the joint trading account with the Jordan-Lyman Co., Inc., without resulting in the first instance adequate security, and in any event causing a loss of $1,000,000 in failing to demand security when a threatened loss became apparent."

Jurist Points Out Liability

"A review of the decisions by the Supreme Court dealing with the liability of directors in similar situations where reasonable men might differ on the question whether or not the circumstances show actionable misconduct on the part of the director. The statement of the standard, however, has not been changed. Directors are liable if they unlawfully divert the assets of a corporation. They are liable if they fail to exercise sound judgment. They are liable if their conduct in making such investments discloses negligence. They are not responsible for mere errors of judgment in the conduct of the corporation's business."

Except for Judge Burns' decision.

The Beacon Trust Company, was paid $25,000 in dividends in 1929, $125,000 in 1930.

On Spiegel's fourth point—that the directors were responsible to the corporation for their culpable misconduct in purchasing shares of Class A stock at prices exceeding their fair market value—the court said:

"The circumstances of the purchase of shares are as follows: The Beacon Participations purchased 10,000 shares of Class A stock and paid therefor the sum of $1,000,000. In view of the findings above, it is clear that this stock was purchased out of capital. Even apart from the provisions in the articles of incorporation a corporation in this Commonwealth may purchase its own stock. Such a purchase does not result in a reduction of the capital stock unless such reduction was intended. While the shares thus purchased are not assets, strictly speaking, of the corporation, their proceeds may become so through subsequent sales. Although there is much authority to the contrary and no authority in support thereof, apparently in this Commonwealth under some conditions a corporation with impaired capital may further impair it by the purchase of its own shares out of capital."

"The purchase of 54,300 shares caused a direct loss to the common stock of Class A stockholders. Because, thereby, the money available for liquidation was reduced unequally. In the second place, the purchase resulted in an illegal interference with the com-

Big Ten Named in Bank Case

The 10 defendants, who may be liable for almost $1,000,000, are: Charles F. Adams, well known and successful business man; Charles E. Gove, president of an engineering firm and former publisher of Boston; William F. Hart, president of the Charlestown Five Cent Savings Bank; George S. Mumford, president of the Atlantic National Bank; Lyman, and Fred D. Jordan, bankers; Allen H. Morgan, president of the new First Trust Co.; and Gardner Proulx, Southbury banker. Fred D. Jordan was not served with civil process. Another officer, Robert G. Shaw, Jr., is now dead.

Question Juggling of Stock in Merger

The possibility of a holder of Class A stock becoming entitled to a vote was still at issue. The purchase of stock by the corporation of any voting power except through a controlling interest in the purchase of these shares made it easier for the corporation to pay in dividends on the outstanding stock, since no dividend could be lawfully declared on the stock so purchased.

Illegal Dividends Paid, Says Jurist

"The defendants are liable to the corporation because they declared illegally, and paid, illegal dividends out of the capital of the company, where there was no net earnings, and where their culpable conduct in purchasing shares of Class A stock at prices exceeding the fair market value of such shares was a factor."

In his finding of fact Judge Burns declared that the Beacon Participations, Inc., was organized May 11, 1928, by the Beacon Trust Co. as an affiliate of the bank under the corporate laws of the Commonwealth.

It was created in many legal entities similar to banks in the last 10 years and in this suggested a bank in the eyes of the public in that it had unlimited power of investment and was free from administrative control.

On May 18 the corporate charter and the original 10,000 shares of no par value stock was changed to 100,000 Class A preferred, 25,000 common.

Purchase Scored by Judge in Finding

The building trust from which the note was bought was not an affiliate of the Beacon Trust Co. Its directors with the exception of Lyman were directors of the bank and also of Beacon Participations.

Judge Burns was especially emphatic in pointing out in his decision that this transaction "was a case where the same parties, apart from the fiction of law, represented the maker, the buyer."

Beacon Share Split Shown by Charter

The Beacon Participations, Inc., was organized on May 11, 1928, under the general incorporation law. In accordance with the Articles of Amendment, the 10,000 shares of authorized capital stock of the corporation was changed into the following classes:

100,000 shares of Class A preferred stock, 25,000 shares of Class B preferred stock, 25,000 shares of common stock. All were without par value.

The Beacon Trust Co. was made depository on May 28, and appointed transfer agent. The Class A stock was sold to the public and marketed through Jordan, Lyman Co., Inc., a corporation dealing in real securities. The controlling interest in this securities company was owned by the defendants, Lyman and Jordan—Except from Judge Burns decision.

WINN MILLION IN FIRST BRUSH

Judge John J. Burns, youngest superior court justice, reading his decision in the Beacon Participations, Inc., case, holding that Boston business men and financial leaders liable for more than $1,000,000 loss suffered by stockholders.

Robert T. Bishnell, counsel for Edward Spiegel of Boston, won the liability decision, which is now to be appealed.

Reputations Used to Push Sale, Says Court

"The primary purpose of this corporation was the making of investments. One of the important inducements for the sale of Class A stock was the character of the personnel of the board of directors. Charles F. Adams was a well known successful business man. Charles E. Gove was president of one of the largest engineering companies in Boston, had been postmaster of Boston and had a large and varied business experience. William F. Hart was president of the Charlestown Five Cent Savings Bank and had many years of experience in the field of investment. Arthur T. Lyman was formerly a partner in Richmond Hill Co., a large and successful firm of brokers in Boston, and together with Jordan controlled the corporation known as the Jordan, Lyman Co., Inc. As dealers in real estate securities."

Case Expected to Go to Full Bench

The result of these purchases was the corporation was the split of the General Laws, Chapter 156, Section 43. A reduction of capital stock was required, at least so far as the other Class A stockholders were concerned. The statute requiring reduction of capital stock was not applicable on that class which, according to the constitution of the company, was to have the right to elect directors. The corporation was being wound up."

"It is expected that the defendants will carry their case to the Supreme Judicial Court."

$1,900,000 Raised From Public on Sale

Another amendment allowed any officer of the corporation to hold office or realize profit under the corporation or any other corporation which the Beacon group might become interested in. It further provided that no contract entered into by the corporation, or in which one of its directors had an official interest, could be void because of that fact.

The officer was required to give notice of his interest to the board of directors prior to the time the agreement was approved.

The Beacon Trust Co., of which most of the Beacon Participations, Inc., was made the depository of corporate funds.

The Beacon Trust Co. had issued thousand shares of Class A preferred stock and sold them publicly through the offices of Jordan, Lyman, Inc., both of whom were directors of Beacon Participations. Through the sale of $1,900,000 was raised.

The Beacon Trust Co. bought the 25,000 shares of com-

Jopp Named by Court as Lender

Turning to the financial condition of the building corporation when the note was made and subsequently, he pointed out that it had been paying dividends averaging five per cent during a period when its net earnings were negative.

"In holding this purchase invalid, the judge declared that the makers could not have paid it on demand without selling two large office buildings in one of which was the Beacon Trust Co.'s main office and in the other its most important branch."

He revealed the purchase of a "water of the stockholders' money" pointing out that the net assets of the building group who made the investment, if not an illegal one, was a hazardous one, with a frozen asset because the depositories had direct claim against the bank. The Participations, however, furnished an ideal dumping ground, because the shareholders had no direct claim against the corporation. Their only remedy lay in this indirect and difficult proceeding."

Except from Judge Burns' decision.

World's Most Famous Old Man - Proves He Can Smile at Ninety-Four

"I'M TOO OLD TO SMILE!" John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who passed his 94th milestone Saturday, insisted after church yesterday that he was too old to smile. "People would think I was pretending," he said.

BUT HE PROVED HE COULD. The crowd at the church doors laughed—and then John D.'s face was radiated by a smile. "Well," said he, "maybe I'm not too old yet, but I will be when I reach a hundred."

"THANKS FOR FELICITATION!" The world's best wishes poured in for the world's most famous 94-year-old. He feels rather young for that age, he said, thinking the many neighbors who offered him felicitations

"The reputations these men bore in the community undoubtedly were very important factors in the sale of this stock to the public. The corporation was entitled not only to the honest judgment of these men; it was also entitled to have sound judgment and reasonable care in the conduct of their offices."—Excerpt from Judge Burns' decision.

Dumping Ground, Declares Jurist

"Upon all the evidence before me I find that the respondents, Beacon Participations, Inc., was organized for the purpose, among other things, of buying this note. The note in the hands of the Beacon Trust Co. was a hazardous investment. If not an illegal one, a trust company, could with far less safety, retain such a frozen asset, because the depositories had direct claims against the bank. The Participations, however, furnished an ideal dumping ground, because the shareholders had no direct claim against the corporation. Their only remedy lay in this indirect and difficult proceeding."

World's Most Famous Old Man - Proves He Can Smile at Ninety-Four

"I'M TOO OLD TO SMILE!" John D. Rockefeller, Sr., who passed his 94th milestone Saturday, insisted after church yesterday that he was too old to smile. "People would think I was pretending," he said.

BUT HE PROVED HE COULD. The crowd at the church doors laughed—and then John D.'s face was radiated by a smile. "Well," said he, "maybe I'm not too old yet, but I will be when I reach a hundred."

"THANKS FOR FELICITATION!" The world's best wishes poured in for the world's most famous 94-year-old. He feels rather young for that age, he said, thinking the many neighbors who offered him felicitations

DEBBIE DAYS ARE HERE AGAIN! Among the socially prominent will be Margaret Stockton, daughter of the Philip Stocktons of Beacon at and Manchester-by-the-Sea . . .

Miss Margaret is tall, blonde, with blue eyes and rather sophisticated manner . . . she dresses very smartly and is named for and looks like her mother.

The Stocktons are old Boston residents and leaders in exclusive circles . . . among the debutante's cousins is Marian Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Clark of Pride's Crossing, who came out last year . . . other cousins are Tom and Howard Whiteside, sons of Alexander Whiteside, and Eleanor Shaw, daughter of the S. Parkman Shaws . . . Mrs. Whiteside and Mrs. Shaw were the two handsome Stockton girls . . .

Brother Charlie Stockton was graduated in 1932 from Harvard, which is always a help to a budding debutante.

Eleanor Shaw is being presented this season and is the opposite in type to her cousin . . . she is tall and dark, black hair and dark eyes with lovely high color. Both girls are Winsor School graduates but quite different in temperament. The Stocktons go to the fashionable and dull North Shore until August, when they go to Woodstock, N. Y., for the fall . . . The Shaws summer at Wareham and like the informality of old Cape Cod.

Agnes Osborne to Make Debut

ONE OF THE BIGGEST BALLS of the season will be the presentation dance for Miss Agnes D. Osborne, daughter of the Thomas Mott Osbornes, which will be given for her by her aunt, Mrs. James J. Storrow (International Girl Scouts, Women's City Club, Judge Baker Foundation, etc.), of Beacon at and Tuckersville, Bermuda . . .

Mr. Osborne, the debutante's father, made quite a name for himself as a prison reformer even living for a while at Sing Sing Prison in order to study conditions . . . Agnes' grandmother is Mrs. Barrett Wendell, president of the Colonial Dames of America, and she will naturally entertain for her granddaughter. Naturally, Miss Agnes inherits a serious temperament and her will study to be an animal doctor after she is presented. She is good-looking but not smart, in the modern sense of the word. There is plenty of money on both sides of the family.

Susan Binney Among Debutantes

SUSAN BINNEY IS ANOTHER DEBUTANTE who will be brought out by her grandfather, Mr. William Appleton, at the grand old mansion at 74 Beacon st. . . Miss Binney and her post-debutante sister, Georgetown, are the daughters of the late Dr. and Mrs. George H. Binney . . . her mother was the tall and beautiful Gladys Appleton.

Many smart affairs will be given for the debutante . . . Mrs. DeForest Daniloff and Mrs. Timothy Adamowsky will probably give a tea or luncheon for her as they did for sister Georgetown last winter. The Adamowskys are at Bar Harbor this summer.

Susan is a cousin to Polly Binney of Milton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Binney, and they are planning several affairs for the pretty girl. She is dark with a sweet face and quiet manner and was graduated from Brimmer school . . . not that it matters, she is an Appleton and that means much in Boston. At present she and her sister are motoring through Europe with Mrs. John T. Wheelwright.

Isabella Gardner Plans Fall Debut

THE SECOND DAUGHTER OF THE George Peabody Gardners, Miss Isabella, will step out of the really lovely old mansion Greenhill in Brookline this fall, following in her sister Katherine's "Kitty" footsteps, who was presented last winter. Miss Isabella resembles her mother with beautiful Italian hair . . .

Miss Gardner comes from one of the oldest Providence families, the Grosvenors. She is tall and charming . . . a luncheon was given for her this spring but she will probably have a dance in the winter.

Among her relatives is Olga Monks, a cousin . . . Harrison and Virginia Gardner, the latter recently married Reggie Finke at Emmanuel . . . Mrs. George H. Monks and Mr. Gardner are brother and sister and Mrs. "Jack" Gardner was an aunt . . . Isabella's inherited some of the Gardner Palace jewels . . . attended her cousin's wedding in The Palace when Emily Colledge and Harry Woodruff were married there in the Gallery, amid lilies and candies and precious treasures of art . . .

Many Parties for Isabella Lawrence

ANOTHER ISABELLA IS THE DAUGHTER OF THE John Lawrences . . . who will be presented this autumn. Miss Isabella is quite smart in appearance, light fluffy hair, blue eyes and dresses well . . . we predict she will be one of the snappy debts. Many parties will be given for her by her aunt, Mrs. J. Harold Colledge, who is keen about her niece, and by her sister, Eloise, now Mrs. Harrison Gardner. Brother Amory will be a senior at Harvard this fall and that will be a help, as well as a cousin "Dicky" Lawrence, who will also senior across the bridge.

Isabella has been to Foxcroft and to Europe. Uncle Percy Atherton is an important member of London society and no doubt Isabella will be presented at Court after her formal presentation to society.

The Lawrences are great sports in the yachting and hunting world . . .

Mrs. Lawrence hopes to open No. 65 Commonwealth ave., their lovely home, this winter, which has been closed for long. At present she and Mrs. Castfield-Taylor Whitman are entertaining with their new gown shop ($14.50 and $24.50 only) in Newbury st. . . At one time she aspired to be an authoress and made her literary debut in the Atlantic Monthly with a short story, taking up the question, "If a heroine should get divorced, would she lose her social position?"

We wonder if Mrs. Lawrence ever re-reads her little story . . . It has not taken many years for time to answer her social problem . . . The money in the family is mostly on the Lawrence side . . . made in cotton stockings.

Chatty Notes of Social Circles

BEFORE THE OPENING OF the South Shore Playhouse at Cohasset this evening many of the younger set are entertaining at dinner. The Misses Ada and Delinda Dawson of Milton and Cohasset are having a group of friends for dinner. Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cox are having dinner guests, and Mr. and Mrs. William J. Davidson are entertaining some of their friends. Mrs. Nathaniel F. Emerson is having a party of 12, and

Regina Curley Susan Cabot Engaged to Plans Fall Wedding

THE ENGAGEMENT OF Miss Regina C. Curley to Dr. John Winthrop Gahan of Medford was announced on Saturday by her father, Dr. George E. Curley, of Milford. Miss Curley is an alumna of Trinity College and Dr. Gahan received his degree from Georgetown University in 1928. Dr. Gahan later attended Boston College and is a graduate of Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia.

NOW THAT THE YACHT races are over, the younger set of the North Shore are seeking new fields in their enthusiasm to make this the gayest of summer parties. Among those who are out of town are Miss Virginia Phelan, who are spending the next 10 days in Detroit, visiting Miss Mary Virginia Phelan, who was the roommate of Miss Virginia at Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Ct.

BOOKS---And Other Things

By Charles Hanson Towne

Some of Mr. Christopher Morley's delightful conceits are to be found in his "Mandarin in Manhattan," issued by Doubleday, Doran.

If out of the mouths of babes come wisdom, of the front door of this Old Mandarin comes far more knowledge of the amazing parades of our metropolis than one could get through a year of living there. For he sees everything with young-old eyes; he observes wherever he wanders. He has no dark evening, the front door of the Rectorian Fellowship and young couple exchanging secret kisses in the vestibule, and he realizes that even the neoclassics are human.

Someone wanted to know not long ago—it was Jack Lait—what he thought of the "Mandarin in Manhattan." I suggested Arthur Guiterman; but I think Chris Morley would be an equally happy choice; for, of course, it is he who looks at us through his Old Mandarin's eyes. It is his keen observation that is manifest on all the pages of his delectable little volume, ably aided and abetted by the drawings of Guy Willems, whose name, by the way, is not on the title page. Such whimsical nonsense, wedded to deep wisdom, does not come to us every day. Nothing like this has been written since "Flora." No table of Aesop contains more certain moral. Euphemia Ganson in Engaged Group

Mr. and Mrs. Adam McKay Ganson of Portsmouth are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Euphemia Sinclair Ganson, to William Gardner Perrin, son of Edward Jamaica Perrin, Jr., of Brookline. Euphemia has announced the engagement of her daughter, Miss Susan M. Cabot, to Dr. Charles F. Wolcott of Cambridge. Miss Cabot is a graduate of Smith College in 1928, for which she prepared at Winsor School and Smith Walker School in Simsbury, Connecticut. Her fiancé was graduated from Milton Academy and Harvard in 1928. He went to Harvard Medical School, graduating in 1931, and served his internship at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wolcott of Cambridge. Miss Cabot and Dr. Wolcott are planning a September wedding to take place in Brookline.

*SCIENTISTS NOW EXPLAIN

"This soap contains natural elements skin needs to stay youthful"

SOFT... exquisitely smooth... youthful skin! The heart's desire of every woman! For years the lovely screen stars have used this beauty soap because it keeps their skin so lovely... so young-looking.

Now scientists explain WHY it is such a wonderful aid in keeping skin youthful. The Secret of Youthful Skin. Young skin is rich in certain precious elements, put there by Nature herself, but, as years go by, these elements are gradually lost. Then skin ages, grows dull, unattractive. But scientists now tell you, Lux Toilet Soap checks the loss of these precious elements from the skin. For, they find, it actually contains such elements... is completely free from harshness, readily soluble. No wonder this soap is so remarkable an aid in keeping skin soft, young-looking, they declare.

To guard their priceless complexion, 9 out of 10 screen stars depend on this fragrant, white soap. Start today to keep your skin young-looking with this scientific care.

For EVERY Type of Skin...dry...oily...in-between... BEGIN TODAY!

NATURAL WAVE PATTERN IN YOUR HAIR MUST BE FOUND FOR BEAUTIFUL COIFFEUR

Even Straight Hair Has Own Pattern

By MARGARET MATSON

Why is it that one finger wave will enrage close to the head, stay put for days, behaved in an angelic manner, while the next one which looks just as elegant when fresh, laid will shortly start to writhe and have tantrums, then will string out and be horrid?

That's an easy one. In even the straightest hair, there is a wave pattern. If the operator finds it, follows along where it leads, all will be well. Hair naturally dips and does upturns according to its own individual ideas. You cannot, with scissors, make it do otherwise. If you have found an operator who understands the quips and notions of your glorious crown, stick to her like a friend and a brother.

Noil Varnish

No matter how rubbed the moment may be, don't put on a new film of nail coloring varnish until the patches left by the old ones are removed. You take them off by rubbing briskly with fresh material from the bottle.

One application makes a better finish than two which may be risky. Keep clear of the crescent at the nail base. Some of the clear beads skin on up over the nail, but the white line is prettier. You can make it still clearer by forcing a bleaching paste under the nail edge, using an orange wood stick.

Avoid Them

Round barriers interfere with circulation, are not to be depended upon anyway. If they are tight, they are uncomfortable. If they aren't tight stockings do a rag. Have three pairs of hose supporters on the foundation garment or corset. Then, harness, hose, and heels as smooth as skin itself. No straight seams are marching in a straight line, but the white line is prettier. You can make it still clearer by forcing a bleaching paste under the nail edge, using an orange wood stick.

The Marry-Go-Round; Loves Time Limit

By HELEN ROWLAND

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW, according to the psychologists, before love and marriage will cease to be a gamble or an experiment and will become an exact science.

Before you sign a life contract on the dotted line, you will be able to tell with the aid of a psychanalyst, just how long your love will last and what parking-time will be in a man's affections. That's what they say.

But, it all depends on what you MEAN by love. Perhaps a good psychanalyst can measure a man's capacity for infatuation or passion and a woman's ability to kiss sweet with ice-cream and romance.

Perhaps they can compute the hour, just how long a woman's love will live on the memory of a kiss or how long a man's love will last on the hope of the next kiss. How long his temperment will stand domesticity and the restrictions and monotony of a new-marriage marriage. And how long her nerves will bear up under the strain of cooking his eggs, counting his laundry and arguing with the butcher.

Maybe it's possible to know in advance just how much of her wedding the man will be able to endure.

Love—if you GET love—is the only thing worth marrying for! And that's NO time limit, is it? Copyright, 1933, by the Boston Evening American

Beauty Queries and Answers

Poor Posture

Question: Are there any exercises which will help me to get over the habit of slumping? I am quite stout shouldered, and even though I constantly think of it and straighten up, that slumped doesn't seem to help—Miss M. E. Winchester.

Answer: Poor posture is often caused by weakened back muscles. I suggest a stretching exercise. Lift up on the toes, extend the arms above the head, then stretch as low as you can. Repeat several times morning and night. Swimming, horse-back riding and tennis are what the doctor often orders for this condition. Also keep in mind the need of retaining the correct position, hips, back, chest, head, neck, shoulders and arms falling comfortably and naturally.

Shape of Mouth

Question: I have heard that massage can change the shape of one's mouth. Is this true, and could you suggest one?—Mrs. A. B. R. Yarnmouth.

Answer: If we all remembered that emotional apathy—pettiness, weeping, anger—place their marks upon the contour of the lips, we would eliminate some of these quite unnecessary emotions, and all have lovelier lips. Massage can be used to eradicate the unbecoming results, and here is a simple massage movement: Place the first finger in the center of the upper lip, thumb at one corner, second finger at the other. Keep the first finger stationary, draw up thumb and second finger. Nice Cupid's bow appears.

Sweets Out for Skin Beauty

A STRONG CURB on your sweet tooth is going to be needed for the rest of the 12-day Diet for Skin Beauty. Sugar and sweet pastries clog up your system with poisonous gases, and as you know, the first purpose of the diet was to clear the system of accumulated wastes and of impurities in the bloodstream. So let's not fail in our good work, and let an occasional piece of fudge cake or sundae upset the diet routine.

There is little chance of that happening, since there is no excuse for having more than the ordinary reminders of hunger from the stomach with diet which starts today. Oftentimes overindulgence in sweets is the result of trying to satisfy a feeling of hunger.

SoFlattering Fruit Fillings for Cake Figures

By MARIAN MARTIN

AMONG THE MANY interesting caprices, we chose this as most flattering for the larger figure. It falls in soft, graceful folds and crosses just over the waistline to conceal a full bust. Lace is pretty for the vest. The hips are slender with a snug, close and pointed seaming. Fashion it of a cool, dark printed sheer.

Pattern 9248 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 38 requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch fabric and 1/4 yard 36-inch lace. Send 15 cents in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for each Marie Martin pattern.

Gotter Losing Its Terrors

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

AN IMPORTANT announcement was made at the recent Congress of American Physicians and Surgeons held in Washington. There was reported a marked decrease in the number of goiter cases throughout the country.

This is welcome news because only a decade ago the number of goiter cases was alarming.

But a careful survey shows decrease in the number of sufferers from this affliction, not only in the western states, but in the territory formerly known as the "goiter districts."

Goiter formation, enlargement of the thyroid gland in the neck, is associated with a lack of iodine in the system. It has been prevalent, particularly in the Great Lakes region.

In 1916 Dr. David Marine showed that the disturbance was due to a lack of iodine in the water supply of those cities where the inhabitants suffered from the disorder.

Fortunately, simple goiter is a disease that is easily prevented. Persons who reside in so-called goiter districts are advised to include foods in their diet that are rich in iodine content.

I must warn you against the indiscriminate use of iodine or iodinated preparations. It should not be resorted to without medical advice.

For example, "exophthalmic goiter" is another disturbance of the thyroid gland. In this affliction there is an increase in the secretion of "thyroxin," a substance found in the thyroid gland. The sufferer presents thyroid enlargement.

ment bulging of the eyes, and palpitation of the heart. In many instances this type of goiter can be removed only by an operation. The operation is called "thyroidectomy," the removal of the thyroid gland.

"I want a JOB"

YOU know me as a telephone. Actually, I'm a man-of-all-work, and I want a job.

What can I do? Well—I can do your errands at the stores for groceries, household supplies, and all kinds of little items.

I can guard your home against emergencies.

I can help protect the children.

I can be a good night watchman, for I never sleep.

I'm good company, even when I'm alone.

Dear Bride: I've forgotten where the quiltbox occurs, but I run something like this. "Go down on your knees and thank God for a good man, love him, and I hope you will do this thing and stop indulging in mere sentimentalities." I've a love affair that turned out badly several years ago. If your husband grows tired of your children and lack of sympathy, I'll be glad to help you get rid of him, in seek consolation elsewhere.

I'll bring more visitors to you.

I'll work for ten cents a day, or even less, and I know I'm worth that.

Give me a month's trial, and see if I don't make good.

PEGGY'S NCOCG FAILS TO FOOL PASSENGERS

Her attempts to travel incognito failed at the last minute. Peggy's NCOCG, Margaret (Peggy) Neill, 15, a victim of Cape Cod's most thrilling kidnapping, today was one of some 700 passengers as she sailed to Quebec for a vacation trip aboard the steamer Transylvania.

Peggy was "Miss Lee" until recently and photographs recognized her as the plucky little girl they admired when they covered the kidnapping and the trial of Kenneth Duck, that sent him to prison for 25 years.

With her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. O. McLean, and her younger brother Francis, she was in the old familiar smile when her secret was out.

"I'm going on a little vacation up north and I'm going to have a lot of fun for a few weeks," Peggy explained.

Then she showed concern as her mother hurried her to her stateroom.

"I'm not going to bed right away, am I?" she queried.

"Well, not right away but very shortly," smiled Mrs. McLean. Peggy's father explained that the family disliked the summer forked to the Cape with the summer rush and insisted upon pointing out the family with there as the McLeans.

"We want to get away from that for a while. We need some rest and we are entitled to some privacy," explained McLean.

Among the other passengers aboard were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Clear, Brookline homeowner couple. Their daughter, the former Rose Bernstein of Fall River, another was Congressman Allen T. Treadway, and the Boston dietist, included Mr. and Mrs. John W. Walsh of Quincy.

John W. Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Scholoff and the Misses Beane and Frances Winthrop of Dorchester.

Judge White was a member of the Essex County Bar Association for 32 years.

Funeral services for Judge Alden Perley White of Essex Probate Court, who was a historian as well as a veteran jurist, will be held tomorrow afternoon at Tabernacle Church in Salem.

Judge White, who died at his summer home in Locust St. Danvers, was in his 77th year. Death followed a heart attack he suffered only a few days before.

His wife, the former Jessie Carter, three daughters and a son were at the jurist's bedside when he died. The daughters are Miss Nancy White of Danvers, Mrs. Marshall Hall of Marblehead, and Mrs. Richard K. Baker of Boston.

The son is Carter White of Worcester.

Young Rosen, his brother, James, 3, and Francis Shea, 5, of Stony Beach rd., Nantasket, were sailing the ship some 100 yards off shore.

72-Year-Old Farmer Sees His First Auto and Movie

Murphy, N. C., July 10.—Edward Valentine Gladstone stayed on his mountain farm for 72 years and never saw this town, an auto or a movie until last Friday.

Venture from his rural retreat came about by chance and he was somewhat reluctant to go, but now he is talking about buying an auto and moving to town, so he can see the film dramas.

Fate decreed that Gladstone go to a mountain mill to have some corn ground just as J. H. Voyles and D. A. Rives, of Murphy, drove up in their auto.

"I'd kinda like to see that town before I die," the farmer said wistfully.

The city dwellers invited him to return with them for a visit and he finally agreed after much persuasion. But they had a hard time getting him into the auto. He said he was afraid it would jump down the mountain side.

Four persons are dead today, two being killed in auto accidents and the others drowning victims, and nearly a score of others are under treatment at hospitals and in their homes throughout New England for injuries received in holiday accidents.

The drowned: Brunell, Henry P., 33, of New York City, at Danbury, Ct. Brown, Victoria, 2, of Greenville, Me., at Moosehead Lake. Killed by auto: Easteries, Mrs. Beale, 33, of Worcester.

O'Keefe, Charles, 23, of Ashland st., Malden. Brunell was drowned in Lake Carmichael, Danbury, Ct. late Saturday night and his body recovered yesterday noon. The Brown girl was drowned when she stepped on a drunken log, which rolled over and pinned her down.

Mrs. Easteries was drowned when the auto in which she was riding skidded on a wet pavement and crashed into a fence in Amherst. O'Keefe died at Anna Jacques Hospital, Newburyport, of injuries sustained when he fell after losing his grip while riding on the running board of an auto on Plum Island boulevard.

Whales Dying Out
Geneva, July 10.—The possibility that whales are dying out or becoming more difficult to catch is indicated by a League of Nations survey.

Shoe rebuilders from key cities of New England today formed into a temporary committee of 23 members to represent 800 master shoe rebuilders for the creation of a code under the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The 800 in turn, represent 7000 shoe rebuilders who are located in New England and who will eventually become part of a force of 30,000 to be governed by the code through the United States.

At the Faneuil Hall meeting of the New England Master Shoe Rebuilders' Association, Karl Grinnell of Boston was elected president; Charles Cappelletti of Waltham, vice president; Philip Pascorrelli of Providence, treasurer, and Paul L. Hackel of Boston executive secretary.

Although he was 58 years old, Denihan never married.

4 LOSE LIVES IN ACCIDENTS

Another large crowd is expected at the Esplanade tonight for the concert of Arthur Fiedler and 50 musicians from the Boston Symphony Orchestra. A throng estimated at 12,000 gathered last night for the opening of the fifth season. The present series, supported untiringly by popular subscription, will run until July 28 with concerts being presented every night but Saturday. The same type of program has been enjoyed in previous years will again be presented.

The opening concert was a tremendous success. Rain had threatened all day yesterday, but as the musicians prepared to play the sky cleared and the concert was carried on under a sky dotted with stars. The conclusion of each section brought a burst of applause from the crowd and several extras were played to satisfy the appreciative throng.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. C. F. Nelson, of Bangor, John J. Crowley, of Somerville, and Thomas A. Delmore, of Lowell, would authorize the Board of Bank Incorporation, which constitutes the Home Loan Board, to order any bank to refrain from foreclosing, or demanding payment of the principal, or any part of a home mortgage by the bank.

The purpose of this bill is to provide further for the protection of debtors and borrowers from the bank. Rep. Pratt said.

The Board of Incorporation will be made up of State Treasurer Charles F. Hurley, Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long and Bank Commissioner Arthur P. Guy. Under the bill they would be authorized to order any state bank to accept bonds of the Federal Home Owners Loan Corp. Under the present law the banks may use their own judgment in accepting the bonds.

BIG GAIN SHOWN FOR FRIGIDAIRE

As an instance of the country's healthy normal business, 500 salesmen and dealers in the Boston district, of the Frigidaire Sales Corp., at the Copple-Piazza, were told by Frank R. Pierce, national sales manager, the factory force at Dayton, O., has increased from 5000 in May to 11,000 in July.

The output and sales for June just past were larger than for any other month in the previous 2 months, Mr. Pierce said.

The present number of factory employees, Pierce said, is twice as large as a year ago and larger than during an average previous year.

John S. Pfeil, New England division manager, under direction of the meeting was held, said the decline in sales was 42 per cent over June of last year.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

If you feel you are not much and are not much, don't swallow a lot of pills, and expect them to make you suddenly feel better and full of energy.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a new movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food does not digest, and you are in trouble. Get back up your stomach to you have a good, healthy, happy life.

Little Liver Pills are the real thing. They are a mild, safe, and sure way to get your liver system in motion.

THEY Satisfy

And nobody needs to tell you!

"So you think all cigarettes are alike? Well, you just light up one of these and see for yourself that Chesterfields are really different."

"They're milder for one thing. And they taste better, too. But just you take a few puffs and you'll know they're the kind that satisfy!"

Wherever you buy Chesterfields, you get them just as fresh as if you came by our factory door.

Boston Schooner Safe Across Atlantic

BRAVES' CLAIM ON JOX ROOKIE UNDER PROBE

JUDGE LANDIS TO DECIDE ON STATUS OF BILL WALTERS

By JOE CASHMAN

The Red Sox had "Bucky" Walters, new third sacker, from the San Francisco Mission, under protest by the Braves.

General Manager Eddie Collins of the Sox has received word from Judge Kenneth Landis that the Tribunal management has put in a claim for the rookie's services.

The commission will investigate the claim. In the meantime, the Fenway flock is given permission to use Walters.

Walters was picked up by the Braves off the Philadelphia and Ohio two years ago. In 1931 he was transferred to Birmingham in the New York-Penn. League. He spent the greater part of last season in Montreal under option.

This past winter, he was sent to the Montreal in the deal which sent Dick Gwynn and Al Wright to the Braves. He was understood at the time that the Tribe had released all claims to Bucky's services and that he was the property of the Braves.

There was no snap judgment on the part of Brian Johnson, Ivory hunter for the Red Sox along the Pacific golden slope, that sent Fred Miller, second-sacker from Seattle, to the Penk.

All there is to know about Miller as a ball player, Scout Ernie knows, or should. He discovered the young man. And has been watching him with a big league eye ever since.

Back in 1928, a time that's not to be remembered, Miller was a third and star third-baseman at Alameda, Calif., high school. Johnson was manager at Seattle.

What attracted Johnson to Alameda, plenty of miles from Oakland, nearest Pacific Coast base? No, your observer is sure not.

ROY JOINS "INDIANS"

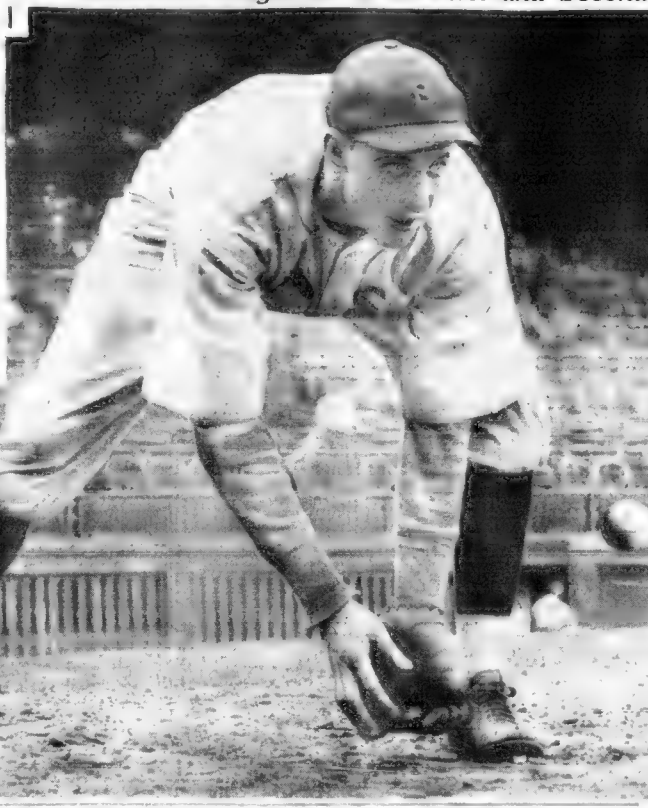

Let it suffice, that Ernie was in Alameda and thinking enough about baseball to look over the local talent. In the course of his travels, he found a young man named Roy. The next day he had a conference with a Junior to become an Indian, as the players in the northwestern city in the Coast loop are called.

Hitting, or lack of it, was Miller's only fault up to now. He batted the apple hard but not consistently enough. Last year, he led the league in home runs with 38 and was eighth in manufacturing doubles, yet his average reached only .252. He was ruled ready for a Class C League in many years.

Johnson wired Eddie Collins that the youngster should be purchased at all of which reminds us of circumstances surrounding the hiring of Johnson by Collins last year, that might well have cost Miller his chance with the Braves.

After considering several applicants for the berth, Eddie finally

Walters Is Caught Between First and Second

Bill Walters first came into the local major league baseball picture as a third baseman for the Braves, but right now he's serving Harry McLaughlin at Fenway Park, coming to the Red Sox from the San Francisco Mission. Against this state of affairs the Braves promptly put up a screech, and Judge Landis is now investigating to determine which of the two major league masters Walters should serve. Strength in the field but a weakness in hitting characterized Walters' report card while with the Tribe, but now that he has begun to make a reputation as a hitter, both Boston clubs are anxious to claim him.

New York, July 30 (AP)—The best pitcher in the American League is Tom Bridges, slim right-hander of the Detroit Tigers.

Before you reach for a brick, let me hasten to assure you that Babe Ruth—not the writer—is the author of that surprising statement.

And the Babe has missed nothing in deriding him often enough to know whereof he speaks. Later in his career, you can have your own brand, Gentry, or any of the rest of them. They're all great pitchers, but believe me, the fans overlooked a bet when they didn't put Bridges on that all-star team.

Now there's a guy's got something to say.

"He's got a hook that drops right off the table and a high hard one that takes off like a frightened jack rabbit and he's nobody's bargain when he pulls the string on that 'one liner'."

WIP TREASURY FOR YACHTS

Mr. Ruth again takes the floor when he says that the Yankees had won the pennant and had won it at least 25 games, maybe 30. He loses a lot of his energy but it's not his fault. They're all great pitchers, but believe me, the fans overlooked a bet when they didn't put Bridges on that all-star team.

Now, you'd expect Bucky Harris, manager of the Tigers, to find a fervent amen to all that and in a way he does, but he goes a step further and insists that Len (Schoolboy) Rowe, his elongated right handed rookie, has everything needed to make him a star pitcher.

"Babe's right about Bridges, of course, especially when he says Tom loses some touch when he's dropped four 2-1 games, he should have won. He was better the opening day of the season than he is now. He's a fine pitcher, but he's not a star."

"I don't know where he gets his stuff from. He weighs only about 160 pounds and he's got a tremendous arm. I don't see how those call girls ever got it. He's a fine pitcher, but he's not a star."

Lunches Put Cantwell on Victory Street

By DAVID F. EGAN

An orchard—yes, a very expensive bouquet of the very best orchids that money can buy—to Benj. Cantwell, Esq.

A few years ago, when Cantwell was a slim, gawky young man, he was in the seventh inning of his career when the banquet was held.

"What was the banquet for?" asked Timothy Fish Sullivan, one of the leading ball-players in the town.

"The banquet was for to eat," answered Timothy promptly. "And what did you think it was for?"

At any rate, the slim Master Cantwell tore through the soup and the lobster and the meat courses with a speed and grace that was a study in itself.

He was knocked out of the box.

APPRENTICESHIP TOUGH

I mean to say that Cantwell served a rough, tough apprenticeship before he fought his way into recognition. If you like your statistics done to a nice brown tint or even if you don't like them at all, let me tell you that he was in the first year he won 13 games and lost 11, allowing slightly less than three earned runs a game. Take 'em away, Mr. Babe, and use them if you wish.

Mr. Cantwell was a relief pitcher in that campaign, for he was a left hander and he was a left hander. He was a left hander. He was a left hander. He was a left hander.

McGraw LIKED BEN

Your envy does not pretend to know why Cantwell should be a star pitcher. He was a left hander. He was a left hander. He was a left hander. He was a left hander. He was a left hander.

MR. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

I was a bit late in getting ready, but I finally arrived with both feet on the lawn in front of the clubhouse at Rockingham Park.

White, who knows his boxing and horse racing and about everything else, was waiting for me.

I found the air saturated with the smell of the race track.

Mr. Boston was concerned, but the great urge finally got me.

Mr. Boston came along just to make sure I didn't try to waver the Sunday dinner at the mutual machines.

So did Timothy D Sullivan, Cambridge attorney, who promised to bail me out if the going got too tough.

Rockingham Park is all that has been written of it. It is one of the most magnificent racing venues in the country.

Timet Dan Fox, who is head of the Pinkerton at the track, told me that he had been in the country for many years.

Everybody was a good time, and spent money. Horse racing, and the track, was a good time.

FLEET FLAG, BOOCAP RACE AT ROCKINGHAM

MEET SUCCESS; HANDLE OVER $2,000,000

By SAM COHEN
Rockingham race track, N. H., today was the scene of a successful day's racing. The total handle paid for the two met races was $2,000,000.

Only two horses are on the school list, according to Walter Jim Millon who admits that this is the smallest list he has handled in many meetings.

Chase Course Ready
Although no date has been set for the initial steeplechase race at the meeting of the New Hampshire Breeders' Association, the new course is ready, and it is expected that the first race will be held in the fall.

JUMPING JOE, LUTZE SIGNED FOR TEEPEE SO

Promoter Paul Bower added another paddyhead prize to his growing list of bouts for his championship wrestling carnival, at Braves Field, a week from tomorrow night, in which Henri DeGlane and Ed Don George resume their feud for the heavyweight heads of severity.

Bower swung into action with his first bout and bopped up with the announcement that he had signed 'Jumpin' Joe Savoldi and Nick Lutze to do a bit of the man-malicious in the semifinals.

And while George and DeGlane will be trying to thrash out an old argument, Lutze and Savoldi will be doing likewise. Far from friendly are these troglodytes from California and Notre Dame. It will be their first meeting.

At their first bout Savoldi kicked Lutze into the unconscious with his first dropkick. The second time Lutze was on the lookout for a combination of a mule and hold.

George and DeGlane are training with the intention of winning the Wigan on the night of July 10, which will be at Jerry's for Promoter Bower is going to add the Christmas Basket Fund and a deserving fund can always stand more money.

At Ruth goes, as go the New York Yankees. The Bambino hit three home runs, bringing his season's total to 22, on the Sabbath and the Yankees snapped out of their losing streak to take a pair of victories from the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 7 and 7 to 8. Ruth hit two homers in the opener and one in the nightcap.

The pace-setting Senators did the best they could to avoid losing ground by winning the one game they played with the Indians, 3 to 2, and are still four games up on the world champion McCarty.

The Solons did all their scoring in the first frame at the expense of Monte Pearson, Indian rookie. The youngster was invincible thereafter, to no avail.

The New York Giants had their lead in the National League reduced to 3 1/2 games, when they were drubbed twice in the same afternoon by the Cubs. The Solons climbed to third place, by winning 4 to 0 and 2 to 1. Lonnie Warneke and the pace-setters with six hits in the opener. Carl Hubbell, making his first start since his 18-inning shutout victory over the Cubs in the fifth.

Bud Tunning was the whole show in the second game. He drove the Cubs but four hits, including the ninth to drive in the run which gave the Windy City early clean sweep of the four-game engagement.

The second-place Cardinals fell before the Dodgers, 5 to 3, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Cardinals came back to score a 2 to 0 shutout victory in the second and gain a full game on the Giants. Tex Carleton, who hurled six scoreless frames in that epic struggle against Hubbell, did the whitewashing.

RAW MATERIAL PRICE RISE AID TO FARMER

With May again a month of prices of raw cotton and other more sharply. The market for finished goods for the American cotton industry is not so bright. The recent building boom has been ahead for the cotton industry. Some manufacturers are still in their production of goods for the building boom.

In May, the cotton index was 100.00, and the cotton price was 10.00. The cotton price was 10.00.

The narrowing of the spread between the price indexes of the two groups of commodities, says the Institute, "was accompanied by an improvement in business because the purchasing power of the farmers and of other raw material producers was increased. Their lack of buying power has been one of the chief obstacles to business recovery. When the price spread is entirely eliminated, business will be rein-

The important in the relationship of the two groups of commodities has been shown by the correlation of the price index of raw materials to the price index of manufactured goods.

Past experience has shown that, under stable money conditions, elimination of the price spread between the two groups of commodities is brought about by a rise in raw material prices which coincides with a drop in manufactured goods prices when raw material prices have reached some point below a properly deflated general price level.

"While this process of adjustment is in progress, the general price index shows a sagging tendency because manufactured goods prices have greater weight than raw material prices. In other words, the sign that business is emerging from a depression is a rise in raw material prices and a further decline in the manufactured goods index and the general price index."
